Inside China's House Church Network (Asbury Theological Seminary Series in World Christian Revita) By Yalin Xin

One of the most dynamic Christian movements was launched onto the Chinascene by the Word of Life (WOL) movement. It all started with the evangelistic zeal of a handful of faithful believers three decades ago and has now grown and spread all over Henan and into other provinces. Humble farmers were chosen by God as powerful leaders of the movement. Regarded as "one of the most powerful, sustained re-vivals in Church history," the WOL community is now recognized as the largest house church network in China, with approximately twenty million affiliated believers.
